VOL. 22 ISSUE 3

MARCH 2014

From the Grass Roots FREE BEHIND BARS

The first year and a half I was in the penitentiary I only existed. I was full of resentment and thought the whole world was against me. I just had time to feel sorry for myself. That was me, never thinking of others, just my selfish self.

After a year and a half I was transferred to a prison farm. At this farm they were just starting an AA fellowship. I had tried and exhausted every means I knew to quit drinking, before entering prison, but to no avail.

Finally admitting I was an alcoholic, I joined the group. Joining (I should say accepting) AA has been a great blessing to me.

We, the incarcerated alcoholics, owe so much to the many wonderful AA members from all walks of life who come behind these walls to

Honesty for Me, the Greatest Obstacle

THE word "honesty" appears many, many times in the book Alcoholics Anonymous, in fact it and its adjective "honest" appear no less than three times alone in the first paragraph of Chapter Five. It seems to me that a word must be extremely important to be used so repeatedly.

Honesty--the word sounds simple enough, but is it? I think not, in fact I am inclined to believe that the lack of a fundamental knowledge of this word and the careless application of it may be the greatest obstacle that I, as an alcoholic, must face to maintain sobriety and a peace of mind.

The word honesty is tossed around rather freely, but is usually candied over with beautiful phrases that mean little or nothing in an explanation of the word.

Any standard dictionary or encyclopedia gives many adequate definitions of the word honesty, but the best and most inclusive to me is this--"absence of the intent to deceive."

To me this means, if I want to be honest, I must not pretend to be other than what I am. I should strive to learn my limitations and stay within their confines, because if I do not, I may get beyond my depth and become drowned in self-pity. By this I do not mean, I think I should permit myself to stagnate or stay in a rut, for nothing is static. I will either progress or regress, I simply mean I should make haste slowly and learn to know myself. In my opinion, this should not be too difficult, because all that is necessary is to honestly apply Steps Four and Ten to my life. If this is done without intent to deceive, I will know when the horizon of my ego has broadened and can adjust myself accordingly.

Without intent to deceive, I should search for and then accept my shortcomings with a philosophy of reason and common sense, since they are a part of my heritage and are probably necessary to neutralize other characteristics.

I should meet what the day brings with calmness and confidence, instead of turning to the narcosis of alcohol when faced with the physically or mentally disagreeable.

I should face my fears with courage and determination, rather than to hide under a basket of pretense with drugged unconcern.

I should adjust myself to the inevitable without resentment or rancor, because destiny is the will of a Higher Power who overlies the totality of all things.

Without intent to deceive, I think it necessary that I accept the fact that I am alcoholic, and as such have wasted the best years of my life and all that I should have been to the cunning allure of alcohol. I should honestly and fearlessly realize without remorse or self-pity that there are no two sides to the truth nor are there two sides to a lie. The answer must be a positive yes or a definite no.

I should make an avocation of being of service to my fellowman and other alcoholics in particular. I should never permit anything to prevent me from giving a helping hand to anyone suffering from the affliction of alcoholism regardless of condition, race or creed.

Without intent to deceive, I should not pretend to believe and accept things I do not think to be the truth, because to do so would be hypocrisy, which has no place in the philosophy of Alcoholics Anonymous.

With complete honesty, I should put aside prejudice, intolerance and all mental reservations in seeking a conscious contact with God as I understand him. This I believe to be necessary if I am to bring my spiritual self from the darkness of yesterday into the light of today, and to attain my inherent right--the right to a sane, sober, happy and useful life.

I know I cannot even begin to maintain these standards of honesty by myself, that is why I attend as many AA meetings as possible. I do believe I can make progress through God as I understand him and the helping hand of the fellowship of Alcoholics Anonymous.

I like this old proverb "La vita comencia en praesenti" or "Life begins at present." Thus it makes no difference how bitter we found yesterday we all have the God given opportunity to start life again right now--the present.

How Group Conscious Are You?

Are you helping your group or adding to its problems?

I BELIEVE that if a group has "a group conscience" then it can take an inventory, and I am part of that inventory. My inventory includes my own behavior towards my group and each individual member, to other groups and to AA as a whole.

I first ask myself: Am I a good AA member?

Then: What is my inventory as part of my group?

DO I . . .

1. Attend meetings only when "I need a meeting?" . . . feel like it?
2. Always refuse to hold any office at any time even when I could? Shun responsibility, refuse to run errands, make coffee, wipe a cup, empty ash trays, set up chairs and ignore anything that needs doing by refusing to notice--always manage to "let somebody else do it"?
3. Neglect to talk to newcomers, or worse, listen to them? Drift off to certain little cliques of personal friends after meetings--or just "beat it," always with good reasons, too tired, too busy--TV more often than not?
4. Turn down, or over to someone else, all Twelfth Step calls, when I could have gone? Refuse to speak or to find someone in my place, before non-AA groups, or students, without good reasons?
5. Give up after a time or two re-contacting the sick alcoholic. Use the "not ready," "not honest," routine? Try to carry the alcoholic instead of the message? Forget that I go to see the sick alcoholic not because he is an alcoholic (only he can say he is or isn't) but because I am?

6. DO I . . .
7. Make no effort to attend other meetings, help other groups get started or give a lift to an older group? Encourage other groups to visit us, or am I (pardon the expression) a tight little island?
8. Show no interest in our Traditions, General Service, or world-wide AA? Have I grown tight with my money when I do not have to be, not realizing the pamphlets and other services to help other alcoholics "grow not on trees"?
9. Indulge in criticism, resentment, or self-pity, toward the group, a member or members? Complain of boredom, repetition, the speakers, the chairman? Am I becoming part of the problem instead of helping to solve it?
10. Criticize a member to other members behind his back with no chance for him to defend himself? Criticize slippers? Take people's moral inventory?

Do these things behind the group's back without trying to help the situation in any way?

. . . DO I?

bring to us the AA message, and a ray of hope to us who would otherwise be doomed to a living hell--a world of the living dead.

AA has given us the tools to combat our disease. We now have a defense against the thing that helped to put us here, alcoholism. So I say a big hand to all you AAs from the outside who have helped so many of us on the inside who "but for the Grace of God" would go right back to the same problem that helped to put us here.

In not too many months, I will regain my freedom in society. But more important, I have regained freedom from my own inner jail, a jail that locked in resentment, anxiety, self-pity, intolerance, and many more defects of character. Yes, even now I can say: I'm free. And I can only thank God and AA for my almost impossible change.

Do You Know: HOW TO SPOT THE DANGER SIGNALS

How often have you heard it said, "I was too busy to make the meeting last night," or, "I was so darn tired I just couldn't get there"? Of course, either one of these two may hold true, but too often they are indications of the beginning of a return to the old line of thinking. For this reason, then, when you are "too busy" or "too tired," stop and ask yourself--"Is this true or am I rationalizing?" Be honest. If you are not it may not be long before you have nothing to be "too busy" about. Only by constant association with A.A.s and their problems do we re-learn those principles of living that get us sober and keep us in that happy state. The 12 Steps are not like the multiplication table. We can't learn them once and then sit back and have them work for us the rest of our lives. Being mere humans, it is only by constant re-education that we can hope to achieve and then keep the strength and happiness given us by A.A.

But this is supposed to be about Danger Signals. Why then hold forth on the importance of frequent contacts with other members? Because, only through these associations are we able to meet and conquer those insidious urges to return to our old intimate friendships with Generalissimo Hang-Over and Field Marshal R. E. Morse. These two old cronies like nothing better than to see one of us feeling sorry for ourselves or nursing a nice fat resentment. They cheer when we begin to get cocky or have grandiose ideas about our worth. They send out invitations for a party when we begin to think that maybe "one" wouldn't hurt us or that maybe "someday?" There are a thousand and one signs that will put these two fast friends into a dither of delight, but each one can be recognized and dealt with if we meet with our fellow-members as often as possible.

You may well ask, "who is this guy holding forth on Danger Signals?" I know whereof I speak, my friends. For once I got "too busy" and "too tired."

First Things First and Keep an Open Mind

Two years ago when I stopped drinking for eight months through the reading of the book Alcoholics Anonymous I did not attend a single A.A. meeting. I just had a casual chat with the A.A. man who procured the book and sold it to me. At that time I was neither absorbing my religion nor A.A. I read the Bible as I read the A.A. book. In neither case did I study them. And, by not attending any A.A. meetings I did not have those helpful mottoes stamped in my mind--"Take it Easy--But For the Grace of God--First Things First--and Keep an Open Mind."

So, naturally, in my long, hard struggle with liquor and dope--I was not entirely free of resentment and criticism of others. In my mind I would look on a really bad, sodden alcoholic as somewhat beneath me--for, hadn't I fought a much harder battle--dope?

I figured all who knew of my plight--and there were many--would look upon me with contempt. I even figured my local A.A. groups would look down upon me because I had had a two-month relapse when I "went to town" on dope. I felt that since working with drug addicts was something new, they would not wish me to associate with them!

What nonsense!

All because I was not keeping an open mind. Praying to a Higher Power for strength to face the world (and that means people) on the one hand and being analytical and critical of these same people on the other.

Near the end of my long stay in hospital the psychiatrist who was assigned to me pointed out that I would find that people would forget and forgive far more quickly than I believed. Not keeping an open mind, I did not believe him. I formed my own opinion of what people were thinking about me.

Mind you, I am not horsewhipping myself too much for this way of thinking but I am only saying that I am, oh, so grateful that I have adopted the motto of keeping an open mind for I know now how wrong I was.

I know how impossible it is to invoke Divine aid when one has not cultivated an open mind. And by this I mean an open mind on people--ideas--advice--reading--everything.

Announcing the 75th anniversary edition of the Big Book

A.A. World Services, Inc. announces the publication of the only A.A.W.S.-authorized reproduction of the first edition of Alcoholics Anonymous. This new edition will be a faithful replica of the original, with the famous "circus cover" dust jacket and bulky paper (which is why it was initially called the Big Book), and is published in the original English-language text only.

To commemorate the 75th anniversary of the historic publication of Alcoholics Anonymous in April 1939, the 2013 General Service Conference approved the creation of this facsimile edition of the first printing of the first edition.

Preorders: Starting November 15, 2013 you may preorder copies. Preordered books will be shipped directly to the purchaser and gift orders to the address provided, in April 2014. (Preorder period ends on February 28, 2014.)

Available at Milwaukee Central Office in Mid April for only $13.00
No Pre-Order Necessary.
